WEDNESDAY EVENING, MARCH 4.

"ROUND DANCES."-Archbishop Spalding is opposed to "round dances." We find the following in the Catholic Mirror:

We are directed by the Archbishop to re-publish and call special attention to what the Fathers of the late Plenary Council of Baltimore, new solmenly approved by the Holy See, officially declared in their Pastoral Letter in reference to these dances, which, under the guise of fashionable amusements, are so fraught with danger to sound morals and to that delicacy which springs spontaneously from Christianity, and is intimately connected with a true Christian faith and sentiment.

FEMALE CURIOSITY. -The pastor of a church in Newport, R. I., had occasion a few days since, to appoint a church meeting, when he remarked that although the subject to come before the meeting was one that interested the ladies of the church equally with the other sex, it was not absolutely necessary that they should be present, intending it as a hint for them to stay away, as matters of a delicate nature where to be acted upon. They took the hint, though, in an opposite direction, and when the evening came the place of meeting when the seem of Salar the cost of the purchaser.

FRANCIS L. SMITH, was thronged with the class alluded to.

GOOD TEMPER. - If money is scarce, let good humor be plenty. Let us keep our tempers if we can't pay our debts. Some people get mad if asked for money due, -and others get mad it they are not paid at once. These are hard times with most people, but it need not make our hearts harder or our manners harsher. It is better to transact business gracefully and amiably.—Ex.
